BOARD APPEALS TO STRIKERS TO RETURN TO WORK

emptions boards were preparing to call into military service striking workers of draft age prompted the shipping board to urge that no such action be taken.

The shipping board wage adjustment board today agreed on an increase in wages, definite working conditions and overtime pay for all shipyard workers in the so-called Delaware yards, comprising about 60 per cent of ship workers on the Atlantic coast. It does not include the striking carpenters but is expected to affect their strike.

Many of the striking carpenters, however, despite the advice of their union officials have signified their intention of accepting the award. The strikers in the New York district have not done so, but it is hoped they will.

The new wage scale is not so high as the Pacific coast rate nor so high as the New York strikers demand but it will be the model for settlements in other districts on the South Atlantic and gulf coasts.

The board's decision was perfected after conferences today between Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the navy, Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, General Manager Piez of the emergency fleet corporation and Chairman Macy of the adjustment board.

It does not take in the striking carpenters at New York, it was said because they have insisted on being dealt with as a special class which the shipping board has been unwilling to do. The strikers, however, are perfectly free to avail themselves of the increases and improved conditions which the adjustment board proposes.

Formal announcement of details will be made later.

WILL APPEAL DIRECT TO PRES. WILSON TO INTERVENE

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Feb. 16.—An appeal direct to President Wilson to intervene in the strike of shipyard workers engaged on government contracts will be made today by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. It was announced by officials of the organization here this morning.

Unless the United States shipping board takes definite action immediately on the wage demands of the striking carpenters at Staten Island and other yards, union officials declared today that the walkout which already has affected 2,000 men would spread all along the Atlantic seaboard. This would involve 15,000 men here, union leaders said, and tie up the government's shipping program.

Despite an appeal last night by William L. Hutcheson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, for the men to remain at work, trusting to the government to adjust the difficulty, the executive committee of the marine wood workers' council is reported to have voted at a secret meeting to issue the strike call.

The carpenters insist that their demands have been in the hands of the shipping board for months, but have been set aside repeatedly without action.

Approximately 50 per cent of the shipyard workers in the New York district are on strike today, according to claims made by the brotherhood officials including T. M. Guerin, member of the mediation committee. The strike would spread from New York to other cities along the Atlantic coast, they said, unless wage demands were granted. The number of men out here was declared to be between 7,000 and 8,000.

The appeal to the president Mr. Guerin said, would suggest a compromise similar to that which was effected last October between the government and the navy yard carpenters who were then threatening to strike. At that time the navy yard workers wanted $6.60 a day, similar to the wage which shipyard workers were receiving on the Pacific coast today. Secretary Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt called the heads of the carpenters union into conference at Washington. Mr. Guerin said, and an agreement was reached fixing an eight-hour day a wage of $4.88, a five per cent bonus under certain conditions and two weeks vacation and all holidays with pay—equivalent in all to $5.90 a day.

Such a compromise now in favor of the shipyard workers would be acceptable, Mr. Guerin declared.

The government has rejected a proposition by the carpenters' brotherhood that the ship workers be allowed to place a representative on the labor adjustment board of the emergency fleet corporation to settle the present wage controversy. It was announced by Mr. Guerin. The workers wanted to appoint such representative with the right to vote and with powers equal to those held by government representatives.

Contrary to the claims of the brotherhood leaders, information reaching shipping board officials here at noon indicated that fewer than 1,100 shipyard workers were on strike today in the New York district.

A. C. Wilkie, assistant district officer of the emergency fleet corporation in charge at New York, said reported showed only five yards engaged in government shipbuilding were affected and that none of these was tied up. At the plants of the Standard Shipbuilding Company, Downey Shipbuilding Corporation and Staten Island Shipbuilding Company, all constructing steel vessels, a total of 440 men had quit, he said, and those of the Johnson Shipyards, Inc., and the Foundation Company, building wooden ships, 625 men. Virtually none were reported out at other yards.

Mr. Guerin announced he had received today a telephone message from a shipbuilding corporation at Edgewater, N. J., saying it had settled with its men on a basis of $6.60 a day, pending an understanding between the government and the shipyard workers generally.

William L. Hutcheson, president of the brotherhood, said he had not yet received the second telegram sent to him yesterday by Chairman Hurley of the United States shipping board requesting him to direct the men to return to work. Until Mr. Hurley's message reached him, he declared, he would not comment on its text, which he had read in the newspapers.

His appeal to President Wilson today, Mr. Hutcheson said, would ask the president to persuade Chairman Hurley to formulate a memorial to be presented to ship carpenters throughout the country, setting forth a minimum wage which the government might be willing to pay.

Explaining this phase of the situation, Mr. Guerin said Chairman Hurley desired to have the carpenters sign an agreement that they would abide by any wages which the labor adjustment board might fix. The carpenters would not sign such a document, Mr. Guerin asserted, at least until they were given some idea as to minimum wages to be paid.

Brotherhood leaders today asserted there were about 5,000 carpenters idle here, owing to scarcity of materials in addition to the strikers and that throughout the country there were 51,000 carpenters idle who had been employed on cantonments and who could be turned into shipbuilding workers with only a little training. These estimates were given out. It was stated to show that there was plenty of labor available for carrying out the government's shipbuilding program if higher wages were paid.

BALTIMORE SITUATION REMAINS UNCHANGED

(Associated Press Telegram)
Baltimore, Feb. 16.—The situation at the shipyards in Baltimore and vicinity where 1,000 carpenters, joiners and caulkers are on strike was declared to be unchanged this morning with the exception that the ranks of the strikers had been increased by the walkout of 20 carpenters at the yards of the Coastwise Shipbuilding Company.

That the action of the striking ship workers was taken because of a demand for a "closed shop" was denied today by John Morgan, general organizer of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

"Our demands are that the men now out receive the same working conditions as those on the Pacific coast. We are firm in these demands," he said.

An answer to charges, Mr. Morgan declared that "no pro-German sentiment exists in our organization and we will not tolerate any."

CLAUDE HAWKINS NOW IN FRANCE

Mrs. E. E. Hawkins, 37 North Fifth street, is in receipt of a letter from her son, Claude Hawkins, who is now in France. He was formerly employed as an operator at the Western Union telegraph office and was one of the nine drafted men who volunteered with the first quota to go to Camp Sherman on September 7. He was twice promoted and is now ranked as a sergeant. He volunteered for foreign service and was transferred to Camp Merritt, N. J., and sailed for France on January 2. He is in the best of health and is very much satisfied with army life.

PATRIOTIC WOMAN WOULD "DO HER BIT"

Cleveland, Feb. 16.—A patriotic desire to "do her bit" to aid her country in winning the war has caused Mrs. C. L. Stroupe, a Cleveland woman, to seek a home for her four year old son for the duration of the war. She is willing to make this sacrifice in order that her husband may join the colors, she said. The couple also have offered their home and its contents for sale.

As soon as a suitable home is located for their child, Stroupe will enlist in some branch of service. She hasn't decided which—and Mrs. Stroupe will try to find employment.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES START CAMPAIGN FOR IMPROVED HIGHWAYS

The township trustees held their regular meeting, Friday afternoon. Considering previous meetings during the winter a strangely remarkable feature of the meeting was that there were but two persons present seeking relief.

This was due largely to the propitious weather of the past week and the resuming of work by many of the local factories whose pay roll play a great part in supporting the people of Newark.

Better roads for Newark township will be the slogan of the trustees during the present year, and to bring about that much desired result they invite the earnest co-operation of every one of Newark township progressive citizens.

Let every one talk good roads on every possible occasion.

RAY DARNOLD DIES AT PHILADELPHIA; IN RADIO SERVICE

Ray Darnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Darnold, a former Newark contractor, who enlisted and attended radio school in Philadelphia, died this morning at that place from blood poisoning.

The young man was aged 22 years and was a graduate of the Granville public schools where his parents resided for a number of years. At present they are residents of Chicago. The remains will probably be taken to West Virginia, where the Darnolds formerly resided.

The elder Darnold was associated with Howard Maddocks in the contracting business in this city, several years ago.

WHITE ELEPHANT RECEIPTS PASS THE $1,000 MARK

(Special to Advocate)
Granville, Feb. 16.—The finance committee announced that the receipts for the big benefit sale for the Red Cross and A. F. F. W. are for Thursday and Friday $1,064.50. Among the scores of people who have devoted themselves whole heartedly to the success of the undertaking, no one has done more or contributed more generously, in a way that has meant more to the whole enterprise, than has John Thomas, representing two of the men's organizations on the Men's Central committee, he really did the work of two men in promoting the sale, besides furnishing gratis the electricity which so brilliantly illuminated the big Warner building, on the two floors Mr. Thomas is agent for the Delco Light, invented and manufactured by Col. E. A. Deeds of Dayton, an offer to light the premises has been a tremendous asset to the committee in charge of the sale.

Clay Van Voorhis of Newark, at one time prominent in all college activities in Granville, opened the Friday's auctioneering, Rev. E. E. Haskins, with two sons in Uncle Sam's service, did valiant work on the block during the evening. Will Aekley, Burton Case, Francis Welsh and Charles Wright took their turn and the clerks reported the auction sales to have far exceeded those of the first day. The crowd had waded up, Miss Eva Robinson secured the calf, and the Centennial Book went to Mrs. T. M. Kier. The money was reserved for today's sale.

Among the contributions most prized by the people in charge is a check from Captain James A. Huston, Jr., director of the American Red Cross in New York, who, having received news of the benefit sale in the little old town, found time, among the many calls upon his energy and his purse, to send a note of good will along with his offering. Captain Huston it was who recently wrote his mother, Mrs. James A. Huston of the Columbia road, of his last one day to the pier where over 3,000 boxes are handled daily, and of seeing in all that congested traffic, one big box marked "Granville, Ohio," and of the thrill he experienced at the sight of the home folks' offering.

The committee says that today winds up the big sale and that the sacred pachyderms must be led or driven from their temporary quarters tonight. No one can afford to miss this last evening. Surprises are in store.

Rev. W. B. Lippard, associate home secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society, was in Granville Friday, the guest of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Stanton.

The personnel of the orchestra which has played to "capacity houses" at the carnival is Alfred Evans, pianist; Ward Quartet, tenor band; Ralph Mead, violinist; Gordon Lang, drums. So popular is the music that the players are almost smothered at times by their appreciative audience.

Hurley's orchestra of Newark played Friday afternoon to the delight of the crowd.

FIRST MANAGER OF LOCAL TELEPHONE CO. DIES AT ZANESVILLE

Albert Thomas Brennan, 59, first manager of the Newark Telephone company, exchange, when the independent company was originally organized, died at his home in Zanesville Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Death came after a lingering illness of chronic nephritis. Mr. Brennan was in charge of the Ohio River and Western railroad telegraph lines. He also had charge of the construction of the first independent telephone lines in Muskingum county between Zanesville and Otsego.

FRENCH WELCOME TROOPS TO HOMES

Open Their Houses to Officers of American Army.

CITY IS VERITABLE PARADISE

Lines of Communication Branch of Army Makes Headquarters in City in Central France and Are Cordially Received by the People—Plan to Prevent Forcing Up of Prices in the Local Market.

Although the influx of hundreds of staff officers belonging to the lines of communication branch of the American army has not yet begun and although their transfer from Paris to a city in central France is supposed to be a deep secret, this beautiful little city is already aware that it will soon be host to the newest allies. American flags are already waving from many buildings and the citizens are in a state of suppressed excitement preparing what promises to be a most enthusiastic welcome.

Preparations for the advent of the Americans, numbering several hundred officers and twice as many assistants—clerks, civilians and military workers—are almost completed, so that when the men begin to arrive, in a day or two, each one will find comfortable quarters arranged for him either in some one of the half dozen good hotels here or in private houses that have been rented by the advance scouts.

City a Little Paradise. They will find themselves quartered "for the duration of the war" in one of France's healthiest and most beautiful cities, where cleanliness apparently has been made a cardinal virtue, where food, especially fresh vegetables in season, and dairy products are plentiful, where the water supply offers none of the drawbacks that must be contended with close behind the front, and from which they can operate fully as advantageously centrally as from Paris.

For weeks a staff headed by a major, with eight officers, assistants and many enlisted men, has been combing the city for the most desirable quarters. All available hotel rooms have been engaged and private houses have been rented until the end of the war. Rooms also have been engaged in private homes for additional officers who may come here. The big clerical force will be distributed in part among the families of the city—who, almost, without exception, are enthusiastic over the opportunity of playing host to the Americans—and in part will be housed in huge barracks in the outskirts of the city.

The new headquarters will from the outset be operated with a view to the greatest possible comfort of the men and the least possible disturbance of local conditions. Thus, one of the first moves will be to install a "sales commissary," at which foodstuffs brought from America will be sold at less than the local market prices, if possible, so that the presence of the Americans will not have the effect of forcing up prices, to the distress of the inhabitants.

Only fresh vegetables, milk, eggs and such commodities will be purchased, and for the present at least no effort will be made to establish maximum prices for these articles, for fear the supply will vanish, as it has elsewhere. Officers' messes will not be arranged for the present, because the food available here is extraordinarily good and plentiful. But the men living in barracks undoubtedly will have their own tables.

A medical officer who has made an exhaustive examination finds the water even better than in Paris, sanitation excellent and the houses clean—although they have been fumigated twice as a precaution—and everything modern to a surprising degree.

French to Furnish Fuel. Arrangements already have been completed whereby the American forces can draw from the French all necessary fuel; thus there will be no suffering from what at this time is unusually cold weather. The American officers have found the mayor and other city officials ready for co-operation in the fullest degree. The quarters, in the main, have been secured by the mayor, who asked the citizens to show their patriotism by giving up a portion of their houses to their American allies. The payment will be liberal, and not on the 1-franc-per-day basis, as in war-zone towns, where billeting is the system, with this official maximum.

The Red Cross and Young Men's Christian association already have established branches here.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Editor of The Advocate:—Your letter of Jan. 31st with Licking county medal enclosed, just came to hand. I want to thank you and the people of Licking county most heartily. I am very proud of the medal and the boys here think it is fine.

They also think that the originator of the service medal idea, deserves much credit. I am sorry that I do not know the address of any other Licking county boys in the service. I hope none of them will fail to receive their medals. The weather here is like summer, we drill in our shirt sleeves. The 5th and 7th cavalry passed in review before Major General Reade the other day. It was one grand sight, to see 5000 men and horses equipped for battle all move together not a horse or man make a mistake. I think they are the best strained and equipped cavalry in the world. They look to me like they could wipe Germany off the map themselves. Our machine guns can shoot from 300 to 400 shots a minute. Each regiment has a machine gun troop. All the boys seem anxious to go over. I failed to receive your issue of Jan. 4th with my other letter in it. Thanking you again for the medal and assuring you, I appreciate the efforts you are making for the boys from "Old Licking." I am truly yours, Harry R. Rogers, M. G. Troop, 5th Cavalry, Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas.

W. B. Wilkinson, of the Central Power company, formerly located in Newark, now in 34 Vernon has received the following from his son Henry Wilkinson, who has been in France for the past several months. He is in the Headquarters company of the 33rd Infantry Brigade, 42nd Division, A. E. F.

Dear Mother and Dad, January 6, 1918. No. I haven't died—only busy—but still on top and feeling fine and we are having some real winter weather. It is hard to realize that Christmas is over and we are well into the new year. Days just come and go so fast that I have considerable trouble keeping track of the days of the week even. Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, Sundays and all are just one and the same, but it's probably just as well for we don't have time to get blue or lonesome.

Everything you sent me was just right and the punk stones were quite original. I have done almost everything else to keep warm, but I hadn't thought of that before.

We had wonderfully good weather for Christmas. Not too cold and about a six-inch snowfall Christmas eve. I went to midnight mass. We had a good Christmas dinner and spent the balance of the day packing. The next morning we were up at 4 o'clock to start on a four-day hike.

That was the third move we have made since landing, and say—when it comes to moving, we have a circus backed off the map.

The first time we traveled by rail, the second time by motorcycle and this time we hiked, setting up each night and tearing down in the morning. Having so few men in our detachment makes it possible to have things more comfortable than the line companies, but we all know what it is to scramble up into a dark haymow and curl up into hay to snatch a few hours' sleep. By that, I'm not complaining, but just trying to show how circumstances alter cases, for those nights that hay was as good to me as the best bed in the country and the few hours I could be in it were as precious as American cigarettes in France.

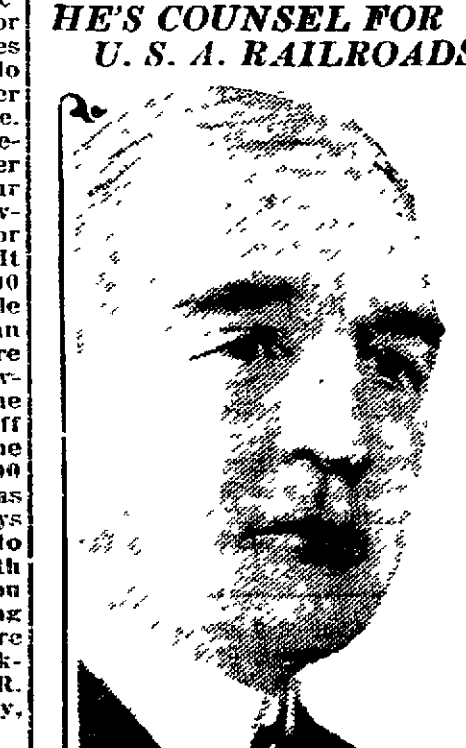

The snow made the walking pretty hard, but the national roads are kept clean, even of snow, so it was not so bad the last day. The country was beautiful, all in white, and the main roads are lined with trees on either side for miles and miles, so it must be wonderful in summer. We have pretty good quarters now and manage to keep warm except for getting up in the morning, but I always was sort of a cold proposition in the morning. A little like an automobile—I don't work very well until I get warmed up.

I have practically all I need now in the way of clothing, but a box of chocolates or cigarettes would go good sometime when you want to send something for they are both pretty scarce articles over here, and, needless to say, letters are always welcome.

With lots of love to both of you, from Henry.

Pile Up the Quarters and Help Win the War

Every quarter counts in these days when a plotting nation has its mailed fist at Civilization's throat.

You can help the United States Government, your Government, in balking the mad dream of Germany to take all you possess to carry out its scheme of world control.

YOU CAN BUY A THRIFT STAMP FOR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

It is patriotism no less than good business to save all the quarters you can. Buy Thrift Stamps. When you have 16 of them pasted on your Thrift Card, you can, for 13 cents additional, buy a War Savings Stamp. These War Savings Stamps can be bought outright for $4.13. After Feb. 28 they will cost $4.14, and each month thereafter during 1918 a cent additional. The Government will pay you $5.00 for this War Savings Stamp on January 1, 1923. Of this sum 87 cents is 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly.

Every humble quarter of the humblest American citizen that is saved and put into a War Savings Stamp fulfills a mighty mission in helping crush the arrogant autocracy that seeks to shackle the world in slavery.

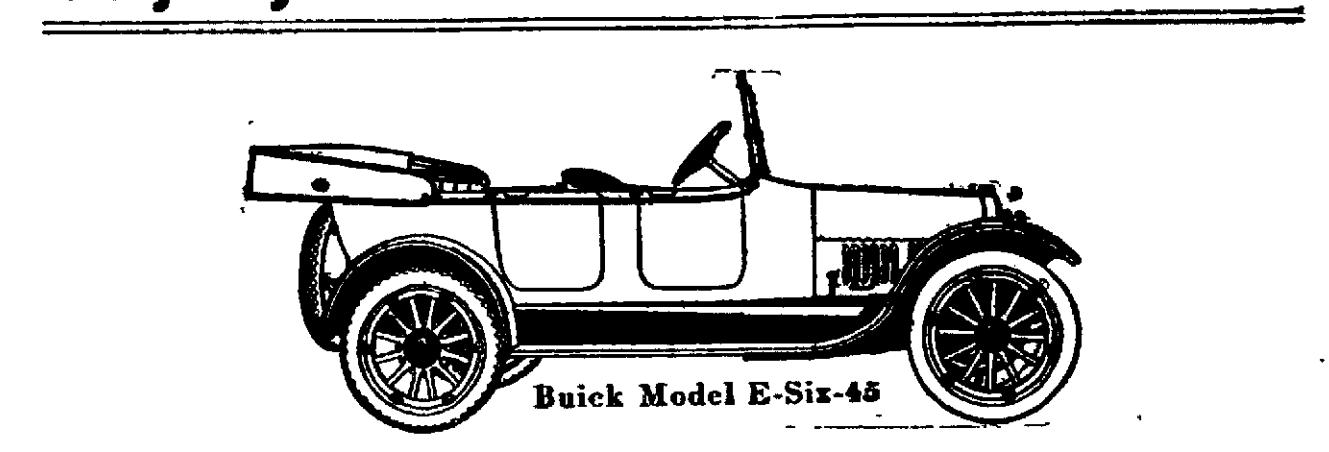

Licking county now has 679 war savings stamp selling stations, including every one of the 23 postoffices, about 150 school teachers, 60 city and rural mail carriers, 19 policemen, a number of the city firemen, many merchants, manufacturers, doctors, lawyers and dentists. While the number of agencies requested by the government has been reached there is room for more and any one willing to aid in promoting the sale of stamps by carrying a small supply on hand for sale is requested to notify the War Savings Committee.

Stamp sales in January exceeded the quota and the stamp sales to Newark school children are leading the state, but the sales for the weeks ending Feb. 7 and Feb. 14 are below the quota. Remember the people of this county are expected to buy $4,000 worth of War Savings Stamps daily all this year.

As War Savings Stamps grow in value every month and as they are not taxable they are better than money itself. Remember, too, that they may be registered against loss without charge and that the government is pledged to give your money back plus interest by giving ten days written notice. Because of these facts and as the purchase of War Savings Stamps will help win the war who can hesitate to start a War Savings account at once? War Savings Stamps are good for children but they are equally good for the grown-ups. They are "baby bonds" backed by all of Uncle Sam's resources. Open a War Savings account today and then buy stamps regularly and frequently.

The modern theory of perpetuating the fame of Washington, one of the world's greatest statesmen and generals, is to cut a lot of hatchets and cherry trees out of red cardboard.

IT WORKS BOTH WAYS.

(Columbus Dispatch.)
It seems to be practically impossible to do anything in connection with winning the war—or carrying on business, while it is the same thing without hurting somebody. Every time an order is issued, it affects somebody or some interest adversely, no matter how desirable it may be to hurt no one.

When the country was suffering from the fuel famine as it had never suffered before, there was a clamor for stopping practically all passenger service upon the railroads. Passengers could stay at home, it was urged, while the engines were used for hauling coal. And in response to the appeals, and because the railroads found they could curtail passenger service to some extent, many passenger trains were discontinued.

Now comes the other side of the question. The railroad employees who were laid off because the trains were halted, are petitioning that the service be improved—at least that no more trains be taken off—to the end that they may have employment. These railroad employees are without work and without money, and their families are suffering.

It was a catchy thing to advocate the abandonment of a train carrying passengers to a Southern resort, but there are a number of employees upon such trains who will be without food and clothes if the trains are taken off. And it is these employees who are now resenting the clamor that the passenger service be further curtailed.

GO TO CHURCH TOMORROW

The intensely cold weather is a memory. The snowbound pavements and streets are no longer a barrier. The valid excuses for non-attendance at church are being rapidly reduced to the minimum. Unless you can find one honest Christian or patriotic reason for not going, gird up the armor of your will and go somewhere to church tomorrow. If you do find that one honest reason you will be all the stronger for heroically overcoming it. Determine while reading this line that you will go to church.

CALL FOR FARM TRACTORS.

(Philadelphia Record.)
Farm tractors are gasoline engines mounted on wheels so that they can be used either to drag plows or haul vehicles, or as stationary engines for the operation of agricultural machinery. They may be used for anything, from turning the grindstone or sawing cord-wood up to running a harvester or drawing a load of hay to market. The manifold utility of the tractor in a farm is obvious. It is an economical substitute for an immense amount of man labor, and this is a consideration of superlative importance now, when the entire power problem of the country (the "man power" problem included) is at a stage approaching a crisis.

There were 6,361,502 farms in this country when the last census was taken, and on well over one-half of these tractors could be employed to advantage as money-savers and with resulting increase of productiveness. These are facts of which the automobile industry has begun to take notice. The response of the industry, however, has not been as liberal as might have been expected. A quick analysis of the tractor building situation recently made by the United States government indicates a productive capacity of about 40,000 tractors this year. By working day and night, and assuming that no obstacles should be encountered in the form of shortages in labor and material, the plants specializing on, and equipped for the manufacture of, farm tractors might be able to increase their output to 70,000, or a little over that number. This in the face of evidences of a demand for more than 160,000 tractors, particularly of the heavy type of construction, is not a very brilliant showing. And if the need of a tractor should be felt only on one farm out of ten, the possible requirements in the immediate future would be for 17 times the present actual productive capacity.

There would seem to be occasion here for the exercise by the government of its power to give preferential treatment to useful industries as against those industries that supply dispensable luxuries. The demand for farm tractors is as legitimately a war demand as is the demand for ordnance and munitions. Tractor plants might be regarded as armories for what President Wilson has happily named the "army or the commissary." Every possible advantage in the way of priorities, whether in respect to labor, material or transportation, should be extended to the branch of the automobile industry that is providing ordnance for the firing lines back on the farms.

ABDUL HAMID.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
With the death of Abdul Hamid, former Sultan of Turkey, there passes from the stage of world politics a figure which symbolized all the vices of the Ottoman as rulers. For half a dozen centuries the Turks have played the part of a warrior caste, ruling ruthlessly a score of weaker subject peoples, contributing nothing to the advancement of civilization, barring always the path of progress in the oldest lands.

Heir to a decaying monarchy, for nearly forty years he kept his seat upon a tottering throne by playing upon the suspicions and the hopes of greedy neighbors, and by slaughtering mercilessly all those within his boundaries whose abilities or whose aspirations menaced his position. Yet, as Turks go, he was a good Turk.

He was perfectly willing to play off Great Britain against Russia, or Germany against France or Italy, so long as he might rule in what he thought peace. He was loyal to his people. He was never the man to sell his empire, bodily, to the House of Hohenzollern. He lost his throne because of it.

The young Turk who overthrew him after the Austrian appointment of Bosnia and Herzegovina called themselves democrats, promised a constitution, and talked much of reform. They did reform Turkey, after the Potsdam plan. They granted concessions in Anatolia and Mesopotamia which Abdul Hamid persistently refused. They sold their fatherland outright to Germany in return for temporary power, and they butchered helpless Armenians and Greeks, Syrians and Arabs, with a thorough-going abandon of which even the bloody-minded Abdul Hamid was incapable. They have ruined Turkey, the Turkey which the man they deposed had at least held together, which he had made a factor in the world.

AN EXAMPLE FOR US.

(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.)
The beauty of a court martial is that it is more concerned with questions of fact than with technicalities of legal procedure; that its chief solicitude is protection of the state, and that it is not subject to the influences of sentiment or sentimentalism which too often obtrude in civil court trials. Thus the Bolo Pasha treason trial has been expedited and Paul Bolo Pasha himself will soon be bereft of power to harm the entente cause and of his head as well. For the French court martial before which he has been on trial has finished the case, found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to death. Good work!

It is to be hoped the force of this example will not be lost on the authorities at Washington. Tenderness with the public enemies in time of war is not a virtue. It is a vice that should be eradicated.

SAVING.

(Ohio State Journal.)
This nation isn't saving nearly as much as it thinks it is. In fact, it is not saving at all. Mr. Hoover says we eat 10 per cent more now than we did a year ago; and Secretary Redfield, in his luncheon speech last Saturday, said we waste enough in a year to buy up all the Liberty Bonds that are offered. The American people don't know how to save. They are squandering. They make much and spend as much. We will have to do better before this war is over. We will have to go at it scientifically and make every scrap count. It is these scraps that are now thrown away, that will in the end whip the Kaiser. The secret of saving is in doing without what you can do without. On nearly every dinner or supper table there are two or three things that needn't be there. Take them off.

Spirit of the Press

Future Sacrifices.
By this time next year, if the war doesn't end by that time, we will begin to know what war is. The demand for white bread, meat and sugar, which now possesses our souls with so much impatience, will be remembered only as an inconvenience that will be regarded as absurd. The days for the real heroism of home and everyday life are before us, and they will be met with that spirit when a real sacrifice demand. The days when we can "wax fat and kick" are over and the time when we must cast aside a multitude of wants will have come. It will be a great day, for the very sacrifice will make the nation greater.—Ohio State Journal.

No Fear For France.
So far from France being bled white, as sensational persons like to declare, it appears that she still has an abundance of the finest kind of blood. So say all careful observers now abroad. America's participation in the war has given the French new heart, and there is not the slightest fear about the future. We wish that as much could be said about the chicken-hearted kickers and critics here at home.

He's a Friend of The Enemy.
Let there be no misunderstanding, misconception, or doubt about it. The manufacturer or employer who is taking advantage of the war to make money for himself, the man who thinks he can go on "as usual," having paid his taxes and bought some bonds, and is thoughtlessly or deliberately diverting material and labor from the shipyards and the essential industries, must be classed as a friend of the enemy.—Christian Science Monitor.

Carranza's Defiance.
President Carranza of Mexico may not realize it, but under existing circumstances, when he sends "your majesty," the Hun Kaiser, "my most cordial congratulations," and expresses his "best wishes for your personal happiness and that of your august family, as well as for the prosperity of this great, friendly nation," he is playing with fire. Nobody can doubt Carranza's motive in sending that message to Berlin.—Wheeling Register.

WAR DEMANDS TRAINING OF MORE NURSES

Thousands of Young Women Are Needed to Fill Ranks of Nurses in Red Cross Service

Thousands of patriotic young women throughout the country are looking for ways in which they can serve the government at the present time.

The Bureau of Nursing of the Lake Division, American Red Cross, Cleveland, points out that there is no form of service open to women more greatly needed than that rendered by the nurses of the country.

The Red Cross Nursing Service—for which most registered nurses are eligible—constitutes the reserve for the army and the navy nurse corps. It is calling for many hundreds of highly qualified nurses for service abroad in our own hospitals and those of our allies. It is also calling many hundreds for service in the base hospitals in our cantonments.

"We have," says Miss Roberts, "nurses enough to meet our present need, but in order to maintain our health standards at home during and after the war and to continue to care for our armies many more must be trained."

"The need for skilled nurses during the next few years will be the greatest the world has ever known and the number of students in the spring classes now being enrolled in the schools for nurses throughout the country should be limited only by the teaching facilities of the schools and by the clinical facilities of the hospitals with which they are connected."

The committee on nursing of the general medical board of the Council of National Defense has encouraged those hospitals possessing sufficient clinical material to increase their facilities for the thorough training of nurses and in many instances this has been done.

Following are some of the advantages in nursing education and some points a young woman should consider in selecting a training school:

- 1 Nursing education not only prepares for a large variety of professional fields, but is an excellent preparation for home and family life and for public service in many ways.
- 2 Almost upon enrollment the student begins her service to the community in helping to care for the sick, as a part of her instruction and training.
- 3 Life in most schools is healthy, wholesome, simple and regular. It is full of vivid human interest, the student sharing in deepest realities of life.
- 4 The graduate of a good school steps at once into regular professional life and work with an assured livelihood. No weary struggle to get a foothold—to show what she can do. The hospital has carried her over that stage. Her work is ready and waiting for her if she successfully completes her training.
- 5 The student is at no expense for tuition, board, lodging, laundry, uniform, etc., in the great majority of schools. Only a few schools charge a tuition fee, for preparatory course. The student is also cared for in illness.
- 6 Salaries compare favorably with salaries of other trained women. In some fields they are higher than the average. Especially is this true of teaching and administrative work either in institutions or in Public Health Nursing. Opportunities for advancement are many and steadily increasing.

Choice of Training School.
(a) Be careful in choosing a training school. Be sure that its diploma will enable you to register in your state.

(b) That its educational standards are good.

(c) That it offers thorough training in medical, surgical, children's and maternity nursing.

(d) That the housing and living conditions are such as to ensure the health and well-being of students.

(e) That the working conditions are modern and the hours reasonable.

(f) That the general standing of the school and its graduates is good. Where any doubt exists on this point further advice should be sought, through officials of the State Nurses' Association or the State Board of Examiners.

Addresses and further information can be obtained by writing to the Bureau of Nursing, Lake Division, American Red Cross, Garfield building, Cleveland.

The American Red Cross has provided $122,000 worth of supplies for the relief of sufferers in Guatemala. A party of experienced Red Cross relief workers has also been sent to Guatemala.

The American Red Cross in France does not admit to its staff any American of draft age unless they present the proper credentials from the United States military or naval authorities, giving the reasons why they are not qualified for military or naval service.

At present there are 2,352,079 Red Cross members in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

THE CROSS.
I have a treasure I value above all things.
Yet to my heart sadness and gladness it brings.
It is a golden chain, each link so true,
And one more link is added,
When a golden deed I do.

At the end of my chain is a cross! A cross!
Cross to the end of time,
When evening shadows fill the air,
And breathe my thankful prayer,
That my soul is not at loss,
And then to kiss the cross—the cross!

I am glad to hear my
Cross to the end of time,
And rest in peace when Rings the even chime.
With the cross to ease my
Burden, and my soul,
I may at length reach my highest goal.

WORTH THINKING ABOUT

HONOR FORBIDS

By ROBERT ADGER BOWEN, of The Vigilantes.

Honor forbids that we may longer be the friends of those who uphold Germany.

Between the man who'd keep his manhood clean

And him who champions all that's vile and mean

Must yawn a chasm bridgeless as the sea.

May we forget the scarlet infamy?

The dastard deeds that meet with jubilee?

The foul excesses which no lies may screen?

Honor forbids!

Our Country calls. And answering her decree

Youth bright with promise puts its life in fee.

Nor may there any longer lie between

Our souls and German arrogance serene

The semblance of a manly sympathy.

Honor forbids!

REFUGEES IN PARIS

SHOW FINE SPIRIT

Help Themselves and Each Other Without Depending Upon Charity to Any Degree.

Paris finds itself pretty well crowded by the refugees from the North, especially the repatriated French from Alsace-Lorraine. Living is high in Paris at best, and conditions would be intolerable from the quantities of these unfortunates who continue to flock into the city, if they were all as helpless and needy as one would expect them to be. But such is the fine spirit in France now that even those who have had to flee from home and belongings are setting about to help themselves and each other without depending on charity any more than absolutely necessary.

The foreign news service of the woman's committee reports the existence of several co-operative kitchens in Paris, run entirely by refugees, where living expenses are reduced to a minimum by co-operative buying, management, etc. These kitchens are so run that one may either eat there, at the restaurant, or take the cooked food home.

At one of these kitchens, at 37 Rue d'Hauteville, a meeting of French and Belgians was held recently to consider the subject of lodgings, which is a very serious one. The majority of the refugees are women, and they give the most practical and meticulous care to these problems, and are very systematic about providing for themselves so that they will not be a burden upon the city to which they have fled.

ALL OF FAMILY SERVE

Father, Two Sons and Daughter Are Over Seas.

The family of William Piggott of Napaunee, Mich., probably can boast of being the only entire family in the United States in the service of the nation.

All members, including the father, two sons and a daughter, are now overseas in the service of Uncle Sam. William Piggott, the father, being an expert railroad man, is now in France with the railroad corps. His youngest son joined the regulars and was one of the first men to set foot on French soil. The daughter then joined the American hospital service and is now in France now with the unit endowed by Miss Hill, daughter of the late James J. Hill.

The other son joined the National Guard and has reached France as a part of the Rainbow division.

THE COURTS

Divorce Petition.

Gabriel L. Hensel filed a petition for divorce against Odessa Hensel last yesterday afternoon in common pleas court on the charge of extreme cruelty. They were married in November, 1915, and are the parents of one child, Lee Hensel, aged 21 months.

The plaintiff says that within a few months after their marriage, without cause, the defendant became insanely jealous of the plaintiff in his occupation of teaching art and of his men friends; that she abused him so that he was compelled to give up his occupation and seek other employment.

In November, 1917, she came to a hotel in Columbus where he was stopping and threatened to kill him and assaulted him with a heavy water glass. On numerous occasions her conduct became so humiliating that he was compelled to leave her on February 15, 1918. The plaintiff prays for a divorce and asks the court to fix a proper amount per month for the support of the child.

The Reliable Family Remedy

PERUNA. Every woman should have at hand a reliable means of checking colds, coughs and grip. It is her duty to protect the members of the family, to prevent the development of catarrh, to overcome its frequent appearance, and to use a reliable family tonic whenever the appetite is irregular and the digestion weak. There are many thousand housewives in this country who have learned from experience the value of the old reliable Peruna in such cases. Many of them tell their experiences for your benefit.

For all Catarrhal Indications take Peruna.

Mrs. Wm. Hohmann, 2764 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I suffered with catarrh of bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child."

"I would sit up in bed with pillows propped up behind me, but still the cough would not let me sleep."

"So reading the papers about Peruna I decided to try, without the least bit of hope that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on never discouraged. Finally I seemed not to cough so much and the pains in my chest got better and I could rest at night."

"I am well now and cured of a chronic cough and sore throat. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough."

Peruna may be obtained in tablet form for your convenience. Carry a box with you.

TESTED FOR 44 YEARS

Mrs. Elin Malmgren, 133 Frederick St., West Manchester, N. H., writes:

"Every spring and fall for eleven years, I have been troubled with catarrh in my throat and nose and hoarseness, and I am very pleased to state that at last I found a medicine, Peruna, from which I received great benefit, and I will hereafter use and recommend it. I always keep it in my house in case of sickness. I recommend your medicine to all my friends and every sufferer, as an excellent medicine for colds and for building up strength."

We have many Swedish friends in Boston who use Peruna and think a great deal of it. If all the Swedish people in this country could know what an excellent family medicine your Peruna is I am sure they would keep it in the home."

OBITUARY

John A. Keckley.

John Alexander Keckley was born March 19, 1832, and died Feb. 7. He was the fifth and last surviving of a family of eight children born to John and Christina Keckley. With the exception of five years his life of almost 86 years was spent on the farm where he was born.

On May 28th, 1857, he was united in marriage to Sarah Staley, of Marysville, O. To this union ten children were born, three having preceded him to the Great Beyond. At the age of 26 years with his wife he united with the Disciple church, his life being in close keeping with the teachings of that faith.

Beside the widow there are left to mourn his departure, C. S. Keckley of McKean township; Mrs. J. R. Parks of Homer, Mrs. A. J. Ferguson, W. L. and D. L. Keckley of Newark, E. Y. of Burlington township and Harry of the home, and 17 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Born in the year that steam railroad cars came into use, his memory was a connecting link between the primitive past and the progressive present. He cut the timber and cleared the land, for cultivation, drove stock across the mountains to the eastern markets, and worked on the construction of the B. & O. railroad north of Newark.

In his passing the community has lost a good neighbor and an honored citizen.

MARSHALS AID FOR ENLISTED MAN'S FAMILY

Red Cross Home Service Stands By Relatives of Uncle Sam's Soldiers and Sailors.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of a series of five articles prepared by Mr. Fieser on the subject of Red Cross Home Service. The three remaining articles are: "Financial Aid in Home Service," "What Has Been Done for Home Service Workers," and "Organizing and Training 30,000 Home Service Committees."

BY JAMES L. FIESER.
Director, Civilian Relief, Lake Division, American Red Cross.

Five million American women today are engaged in production of Red Cross hospital supplies, knitted articles and surgical dressings. And these women toil without slightest inkling of the identities of the men who will be comforted by their patriotic endeavors.

So it remains for the army of 30,000 Red Cross civilian relief, or Home Service, workers to bring the personal contact into the Red Cross work by holding out, in a quiet and unpatronizing manner, a helping hand to relatives of men in the service and, later, to the men themselves on their return from the battlefronts.

It remains for this army of 30,000 (which is backed by more than 3,000 chapters with a membership above 22,000,000) to marshal a reserve of medical, legal, educational, social and financial forces to assist in this "helping-hand business," in a manner honorable to the American Red Cross and worthy of those helped.

First of all, Red Cross Home Service centers about home solidarity: getting lonely women back to live with their own people, watching over the interests of an expectant mother, reuniting scattered families and writing to men in the service about the situation in their homes.

Recently a young Italian in one of the cantonments within the Lake division was worried to a point where he was of little use to his government because he got no letters from his wife. He appealed to the Red Cross. A Home Service committee member investigated (they never embarrass the family by sending the whole committee) and found that he got no letters because his wife could not write. Arrangements were made for a letter to be written for the wife once a week. Simple service, but with wonderful results upon the soldier's state of mind. And, perhaps best of all, the young wife now is learning to read and write.

The Child Angle.

Then there is the children's side of it—there are men in the service who are fathers despite the fact that the public generally does not think that there are many fathers in the ranks.

Home Service workers are explaining lessons to children who fall behind in their classes. They see that children in need of medical care get that care. They are seeking to give kindly advice to the child just beginning to be wayward or disobedient.

Coming to the economic side of the service, Red Cross service workers are:

Fitting people to the right job and helping them stay fitted by trying to find out where the job pinches; seeing that insurance policies do not lapse; encouraging people, who have more ready money than usual (some do have), to spend it with good sense; protecting the recipient of pay allowance checks from the wiles of unscrupulous installment men and sales agents; getting the best legal and business advice in the perplexing problems sure to rise in war times.

And finally helping the crippled soldier or sailor. This work is still in the future, and, while not the most pleasant thing in the world to anticipate, provisions for it must be and is being made. This the Red Cross Home Service workers are planning to do by:

Encouraging employers to give suitable work to cripples that they may find permanent opportunity for entire or partial self support and chance for advancement; maintaining an information service regarding opportunities for such employment, or working with state and municipal employment instruments provided for this purpose; giving personal attention to the troubles and hopes of those who do not find satisfactory work and to others whose courage must not be allowed to fail; securing vocational training for those unfitted for the kind of work there is available; creating a public opinion which will encourage self support from all crippled soldiers and sailors to the degree that it is possible for them to work.

All this is, in brief, American Red Cross Home Service as it now operates and is planned. The program has been built up from the experiences of our allies. Without doubt, like all Red Cross work, the program will grow as the war grows older. One thing, however, is certain—

NOTHING LESS THAN THE PROGRAM AS OUTLINED ABOVE WILL MEASURE UP TO THE IDEALS OF AMERICA AND OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.

SKIRTS GROW STILL TIGHTER Some Seen Recently Do Not Attempt to Give the Wearer Enough Room for Walking.

At a morning talk for charity, given in a small room of one of the smart hotels, some of the best gowns of the season made their appearance, says a writer in the New York Times. Two or three fine points forced themselves on the student of styles at this gathering. One was that patent leather oxfords, pointed of toe and high of heel, have become the ultra-fashionable footgear of the winter. They are worn with never a vestige of a spat, the theory of the wearer being that cold air is good for the ankles. As one little debutante put it: "If air is good for the lungs, why not for the ankles?"

Another point fully demonstrated is that skirts are to be tighter and tighter. Often they are so tight that they are made to lap over in the back in order to give room for walking. In other cases they are just frankly tight, and do not attempt to give enough room for walking.

Still another point is that hats are plain at the point of having no trimming at all. Many were seen that had not even a band around the crown. They are lines, all lines.

WIDE BRIM IS STILL MODISH

Most of the Crowns on Hats of This Kind Are High and Large and Many Are Soft and Draped.

The straight wide brim and the wide brim rolling up around are still with us for modish hats though liked better for street wear than for the accompaniment of evening toilets; and the designers do all kinds of charming things with the wide floppy-brimmed capelines.

Among the shapes with wide straight brim some of the best looking models have crowns of fur, brims of velvet and perhaps a cord or narrow ribbon drawn around the crown and knotted to hide the line of union.

Most of the crowns are large and high and many of them are soft and draped, though there are plenty of stiff crowned hats in velvet, hatter's plush, black satin, etc. The big crowns, especially the more severe ones, are not by any means universally becoming, and the woman of small face or petite figure is likely to look very topheavy in a majority of the most modish large shapes. If she searches diligently enough, however, she will find a crown of modest size, for they do exist, albeit rather apologetically.

NOVEL TRIMMING FOR TURBAN

A fetching flower made of beaver fur and set in a cluster of metal foliage trims this smart brown velvet turban.

Upholstery at Home.

If one is doing over the furniture that needs renovating, the best way is first to take off the original covering, and from this cut the new one, being just as careful as one would be in cutting a dress. The material must then be pulled and stretched to cover the spaces, care being taken to keep the thread of the material running in the right direction. In tacking the covers on avoid marring the woodwork. A very small hammer is best for the purpose. Where the surrounding woodwork is easily marring, the striking part of the hammer may be covered with a piece of an old thick kid glove, stretched tight. This makes the hammering a little more difficult, but it lessens the danger of marring the wood if the hammer strikes. The choice of the right gimp is important where the edges of the cover have to be covered.

The Philosophy of Brocade.

Folks who study the philosophy of clothes declare there is a psychological reason for the present craze for silver and gold brocades, says the New York Evening Mail. The general tendency in street and afternoon frocks is toward simplicity. The season's only trimming of prominence is fur. This, so students of dress tell us, is a reflection of the war spirit. And the brilliant brocades, on the other hand, express "the letting off of steam." Women cannot subsist on a steady diet of simplicity and so they are taking a little fling with brocade chapeaux and garments for formal evening wear.

Whatever else one may think about the soundness of this explanation, it is interesting. And no one will deny that never before have gold and silver brocades been utilized in such attractive forms.

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio

Eight Percent Cumulative Second Preferred Stock

Tax-free (personal property tax) in the State of Ohio, and exempt from the normal federal income tax. Dividends payable quarterly, on the first days of February, May, August and November.

Par value of shares, $100 Preferred as to assets and dividends
The Capital Issues Committee of The Federal Reserve Board, at Washington, has granted permission for the offering of this stock to the public.

Business—The business of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company has grown, in ten years, from $2,000,000 of gross sales to $111,000,000 and from $120,000 of net earnings to $14,000,000. These results have been accomplished without consolidation or merger of any kind—accomplished through the determined purpose of an able management and a virile sales organization.

Sales estimates for this year, based on the figures for the first three months (November, December and January, which show a 40% increase over last year) and on contracts already secured, indicate $150,000,000 of gross.

The company's dominating position as a tire manufacturer is well supported by its large business in mechanical, moulded and miscellaneous rubber goods—its non-tire business last year being in excess of $25,000,000. Tire products are of many descriptions—solid as well as pneumatic, for trucks and other vehicles as well as for passenger automobiles. It is estimated that the 5,300,000 Goodyear Tires sold last year were over 21% of the total automobile-tire production.

The Goodyear selling organization includes 112 branches in the United States and abroad, more than 70,000 dealers.

Plant and equipment are modern in every sense, well designed and maintained, protected by sprinkler system throughout. Plant extensions already made provide facilities for three to five years of continued rapid growth—covering 90 acres of floor space and employing over 20,000 people.

Net Assets—Over $48,000,000 after the sale of $15,000,000 of the second preferred, and after deducting all debts of the company, all reserves for depreciation, and the par value of the outstanding first preferred.

The Company's patents, including those on which it is paid royalties by other tire manufacturers, and good-will, are carried on its balance sheet at one dollar.

Quick Assets—More than $136 for each share issued, after deducting all debts and the par value of the outstanding first preferred.

Earnings—Over a period of ten years earnings have averaged ten times dividend requirements on the preferred stock then outstanding. The Company has never missed a dividend; the dividend requirements for both issues of preferred will be somewhat less than $3,000,000 per year—while net earnings last year were $14,044,206.10.

Safeguards—The Company must maintain in quick assets, above all debts, not less than 100% of the par value of both classes of preferred stock outstanding; and in total net assets not less than 150%.

Retirement—Conditions of this issue provide that ten per cent of the largest amount of this issue at any one time outstanding is to be redeemed each year. Shares may be bought by the company in the open market, or called at a fixed price, plus accrued dividends, according to the following schedule: Before February 1st, 1921, at $105; before February 1st, 1924, at $110; on or after February 1st, 1924, at $115.

Marketability—The issue is listed on the Cleveland Stock Exchange, and will be broadly distributed throughout the country—as is the first preferred.

With the provisions made for redemption of the second preferred, demanding stipulated amounts of par value purchases in the open market each year, its market position should be particularly strong—both as regards ready liquidation and price.

Legality—All legal details in connection with this issue have been approved by Squire, Sanders and Dempsey, of Cleveland.

The Company's balance sheet for the last fiscal year, with comparative statements over a ten-year period, will be sent to any inquirer on request.

The information above, while not guaranteed, is obtained from reliable sources.

Sunday's Program.

"Troublemakers," the William Fox comedy-drama, in which Jane and Katherine Lee, stars, are featured, continues an appeal connecting the custom of placing too much confidence in circumstantial evidence—relied upon so often in courts to obtain conviction of persons accused of capital crimes; a romance is developed, tragedy has its lining, but underlying the entire fabric is the irresistible humor of the little troublemakers, Jane and Katherine.

"Troublemakers" was written and directed by Kenen Buel. The story: Mrs. Lehr, a young widow who grew up in Cuttleback, decided after her husband's death in the west to return with her children, Katherine and Jane, to Cuttleback, and make her home on the old family estate, which, during her absence, had been to and fro after by Job Jenkins, caretaker. In the Lehr family's employ since boyhood, Job had a deep affection for the old homestead, and its many acres bore evidence of his care. Job had been the sole occupant of the estate for so many years that he regarded it as part and parcel of his life, and he was disturbed when he learned that his mistress was bringing with her her children, who, his intuition told him, possessed mischief and its attendant vexations for him.

And Job was right. When Jane and Katherine started from the west, trials and troubles for poor old Job traveled with them.

"Watch Your Neighbor."

Mack Sennett, the famous producer of Paramount-Mack Sennett comedies, the newest of which, "Watch Your Neighbor," is to be shown at the Auditorium theatre tomorrow, Sunday, tells how laughs will win the war, and how victories are psychological rather than physical with success going to the nation that believes it is going to partner is Charles Murray as the undertaker.

This feature is seen together with the Lee Kids in "Troublemakers."

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

In many respects Wm. H. Kibbel's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the most important of the season's productions. In the first place, it serves to exploit the masterpieces of two of Europe's noted artists, i. e., Ralph Brin's elaborate painting entitled "The Celestial City," and Hartz Verdon's picture of the New Orleans slave market and secondly, it has brought back into prominence the memories of that grand old lady, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and serves to reveal the beautiful lessons really to be learned by careful attention.

For the benefit of school children who cannot attend the evening performance, Mr. Fenberg has arranged to give a special school children's matinee on Monday at which time the curtain will not rise until 2:15 p. m. The price for the matinee being 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults, to this add war tax. All seats are reserved and are now selling. Kids watch for the grand parade Monday at noon. See little Eva, her pony, etc.

For Liberty.

No one should miss the brilliant Wm. Fox photoplay, "For Liberty," which is to be shown at the Auditorium on next Tuesday.

This play is quite the greatest of its kind that has ever been presented on the screen. It is a wonderful story of a woman's love, set in the midst of war, the scenes taking place in Berlin at the time America declared war. In this melodrama a young American woman is caught, but the affairs of her heart are not overcome, even by the strife. Miss Gladys Brockwell does brilliant work in this drama, as the leading figure, and nothing that she Anna Held, world celebrated French star of musical comedy, who is expected to have recovered from her illness in time to appear at the head of her own company in "Follow Me," her latest success, coming to The Auditorium Theatre Wednesday night, February 20. If she does not appear her talented daughter will play her role and wear her wonderful gowns.

less alliteratively mingled feet—read:—
—The quaint, entrancing eyes
Stirring souls to sorrowful sighs
Two teasing torches that tantalize
Full a dubious dubb lies down and dies.

It is said that Anna Held did not know whether to laugh or cry after having perused this heart-throbbing, mischievous, however she does not sing it in "Follow Me."

On the letterhead of a well-known specialty in neuritis was typewritten the following jingle over the pseudonym of "Nervy Ned":
My fidgety eyes
Are a constant surprise
To the bipeds of masculine sex
And he who absorbs
The fierce fire of my orbs
Is consumed in Love's passionate vortex.

Upon perusing the refrain the Parisian actress decided that it was a trifle too technical to appeal to the masses, whereupon the mischievous, however she does not sing it in "Follow Me."

June Justice, reporter on the Globe, has made a sensational arrangement of several prominent business men in New York City, charging them with vicious and unlawful "food gambling," and declaring she will produce evidence branding them as traitors to their country. Miss Justice reveals pitiful conditions in the homes of New York East Siders, where, she says, the people are actually in the grip of starvation.

"Pale-faced mothers seek in vain nourishment for their starving babes while a ring of the most despicable grafters traitorously plan to hold up supplies in order to reap sold. These men I consider greater traitors to our country during its time of need than the man who betrays war secrets to the enemy."

This dramatic statement was made by Miss Justice before the courts. She claims that the men whom she accuses conspired to imprison her on the charge of selling "dope" in order that she might not expose their designs on the food market.

This is the story of the New Triangle play, "The Food Gamblers," which will be shown at the Grand Theatre Sunday. It was produced under the supervision of Allan Frazar. Eddie Miller appears as June Justice and Wilfred Lucas as Henry Havens, food commissioners.

ALHAMBRA.

Miss Ann Murdock's latest Mutual production, "The Imposter," is one of the most remarkable of the Empire-Mutual offerings which have included "The Imposter," "The Beautiful Adventure," "Pleasant Help Emily."

"The Imposter" is a story of New York life that involves the adventures of a good and pretty girl cast adrift on the charity of unknown men and women after she has been feted by them as an heiress through misunderstanding.

Several of the big situations in the play were shot in the Plaza Hotel in New York, the first time that one of the big hostesses has permitted its rooms to be so used. Included in these scenes are the big rose dining room, the famous marble office and one of the $29.00 a month suites of the house.

The photographs showing the rose dining room were taken at midnight and the guests shown in the picture—aside from the principals in the play—are actual patrons of the house.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

No one who sees Goldwyn's tremendous film spectacle, "Polly of the Circus," a pictorialization of Margaret Mayo's great play in which Miss Marsh makes her screen debut for Goldwyn at the Alhambra Theatre, would ever dream of the human labor that went into its making.

It is entirely within the bounds of accuracy to say that almost no picture ever made has excited so much nerve force and human labor as this beautiful production with which Goldwyn chooses to introduce itself to screen audiences throughout the world.

Night after night for a period of

On Monday night, the Cornell-Price Players will open the last week of their engagement by presenting the western comedy drama, "Under Arizona Skies," with the usual vaudeville between the acts.

COMPANY OF FIFTY, INCLUDING LEADING BROADWAY ARTISTS AND GREAT NEWCASTLE STARS—SHRIMPING SAVINGS SURPASSING THE NYMPHS OF PARADISE IN THEIR LUSCIOUS, LAVISH LOVELINESS. A FORTUNE IN ANNA HELD GOWNS THAT SET WORLD FASHIONS. Melody! Mirth! French Spice! American Wit!

Manager's Note—To keep faith with the public, Anna Held's daughter, who has been appearing in the principal role during Miss Held's illness, is advertised to appear, although it is expected that Miss Held will be able to rejoin her company here. However, Miss Carrera has scored a remarkable success in the role and has accomplished the most perfect imitation of her famous mother that has ever been offered on the stage, and the production, with its fortune in gowns and scenic splendor, will be exactly the same as scored so heavily in New York last season and which won renewed triumphs on its present tour from coast to coast and return—the only musical comedy production to survive such an extended tour in war time. Withal, owing to the uncertainty of Anna Held's health, appearing, I have made special prices, through her consent, and these will prevail even if Miss Held is able to appear. Most of the cheapest downstairs seats will be sold at $1.50 and there are many at the $2.00 making offering the biggest bargain of the season. GEO. M. FENBERG.

win, and keeps smiling in the meantime.

"It is a cold military fact," says Mr. Sennett, "that mental depression on the part of those at home is just as dangerous to the spirit as what the French so aptly call the 'morale of our arm,' as the German submarine."

"We producers of motion pictures can do a great deal toward seeing that this dreaded mental depression does not occur."

"No other agency comes so close to the people as we do. Our bit will be to redouble our effort to make pictures that will lighten the burden of worry and sorrow of our boys and mothers and sweethearts of our boys. Every family who has sent someone to the front will need cheering, every person whose loved one have gone will be the better for a hearty laugh and it is up to us to supply that cheering and that laugh."

In support of this theory, Mack Sennett, has recently released for Paramount a laugh-making comedy entitled "Watch Your Neighbor" which will be shown at the Auditorium theatre tomorrow.

In the cast are Charles Murray, pretty Mary Thurman, and Wayland Trask.

All three are popular with screen patrons throughout the country and in this production have been given roles that allow them to display to the full their ability in the comedy line. Mary Thurman plays the part of a young doctor's wife. Wayland Trask is her husband, Dr. Crocker, while the neighbor, and her husband's business has done before can compare with it. This feature, together with the latest events, will make another program of the likeable kind, that is always seen at this playhouse.

"Follow Me," which was announced that Anna Held, who is to appear at the Auditorium Wednesday, Feb. 20th, would again enter the stellar ranks at the head of her own company in the three-act musical comedy, "Follow Me," it would appear that every song-writer in the country took his pen in hand to compose a ditty which the fair Anna might use in exploiting her wonderful eyes.

There were songs of every possible description ranging from those composed by the celebrities of "Tin Pan Alley" to the undiscovered geniuses of the so-called "Tall Grass Country." Apparently Johnson's rhyming dictionary, was worn threadbare in the efforts of some of the lyricists to obtain perfect, permissible and "near" rhymes with the word "eyes."

Following is a sample from a chauffeur who pines to become a song writer:

Eyes, eyes like stars in the skies
My high powered headlights petrifies
I should use a dimmer
To soften the glimmer
That shines from my eyes in the other guy's eyes.

Evidently this individual's occupation has influenced his choice of subjects, which is perfectly natural as is shown by the following couplets which were written by one of the electricians at the Casino Theatre in New York, where the divette appeared in the role of "Claire La Tour" in "Follow Me" last week.

My hypnotizing eyes
Have a thousand candle power
Which instantly petrify
And cause the Johns to glow.

This poet at large signs himself over the non descript "Cammy Watt."

Over the naïve subjugate of "Ura Pubb," palpitates four lines of more or

MEMBERS OF THE LOCAL CANTON TO BECOME FARMERS

The members of the military department of the Odd Fellows, Olive Canton, No. 90 has been made into a farm class. The idea was instigated and inaugurated by Col. P. H. Cosner and the lodge members co-operating with Mr. Hoover's idea that food will win the war, will make a special effort to provide the things needed for the army. The plans for the work have been completed after five weeks of preparation and it is expected it will be extended to other units. Dr. P. H. Cosner is colonel of the second regiment.

Funds of the Canton will be used to furnish teams, and a farm will be secured. The whole summer has been laid out in schedules and each member of the farm class will volunteer a part of his time. The farm will be conducted along the most modern scientific lines of farming, and the gardening crops most needed will receive the greatest attention.

While but one unit has adopted the method it will probably be developed on more extensive lines.

CONGESTION PREVENTS TRANSPORTING SELECTS FOR WASHINGTON PARADES.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Railway freight congestion on eastern lines and the necessity of moving the last contingent of the national army will prevent any extensive movement of Washington's birthday. Director
Sellers to cities for parades on General McAdoo explained today.

In a letter to Chief General John Biddle, acting chief of staff, the director general declared that it would be impossible to transport the 315th infantry and 312th artillery, Pennsylvania National army troops from Camp Mead to Philadelphia for a Washington birthday parade.

Thousands of passenger cars and locomotives will be required for the movement of the last contingent of the national army to training camps beginning February 13 and these now are being assembled in all parts of the country. In some localities where congestion is not serious, troop movements for parade purposes may be possible particularly when camps are located only a few miles from cities.

The director general is eager to provide for such movements where-ever possible and will instruct regional directors to make every effort to transport the troops unless the movement of more vital supplies would be hampered.

RADICAL SOCIALIST MOVEMENT IN GERMANY IS GAINING GROUND

(Associated Press Telegram)

New York, Feb. 16.—The radical socialist movement in Germany, the growing strength of which was shown by the persistency of the political strike in January and February also is gaining ground among the political leaders of social democracy. The little group of radical socialists in the reichstag under the leadership of Haase, Ledebour and Bernstein, who split off from the Scheidemann socialists on the issue of voting funds for the war, has now grown to a strength entitling it to a second member on the principal reichstag committee.

The additional representation is gained at the expense of the regular socialist organization, which at the beginning of the war was the largest party in the reichstag.

Recent elections at Leipzig brought eighteen radical socialists into the city council. The regular socialists secured only six places.
The radical socialists, who thus formed the third strongest party in the council, demanded the second vice presidency but a moderate social democrat was elected whereupon the radical socialists refused to participate in the organization of the council.

Leipzig is one of the strong holds of radical socialists, their principal newspaper organ, the Leipzig Volkszeitung, being published there.

The government of Dr. Michaelis was responsible largely for the boom of the radical socialist organization.
The charges against Haase Dittmann and Vogt of the radical socialists groups in the reichstag of inspiring and abetting the alleged mutiny in the navy last summer, launched in the reichstag in the autumn by Chancellor Michaelis in an effort to save his administration, did not complete the discredit of the radical group as expected.

The transparent attempt of Michaelis to rally support in the reichstag on a jingo issue resulted in his downfall and in securing for the radical socialists the standing of a serious political party, which their methods had earlier shaken. They are opposed to all votes of credit for the war and for an immediate stoppage of fighting and have persisted in the original socialist attitude of opposition to the monarchical system.

The Answer To Your Sales Problem

Whether you are a manufacturer of a food product, clothing, furniture, automobiles or hair pins you have sales problems that are daily becoming more intense. Probably the most acute of all your problems today is transportation.

Markets that you have been developing have been suddenly shut to you because of transportation limitations. Traffic experts say it will be a long time before the railroads will be able to make prompt deliveries of all classes of merchandise.

The salvation of the manufacturer facing this problem is the fact that there are certain markets that can be reached. A careful investigation will show you, as it has many others, that your distribution is scattered—very little consumer demand—and thus a small volume of business in proportion to the possibilities offered.

Right here is the answer to your sales problem, Mr. Manufacturer. Hunt those markets as you would a gold mine. Concentrate in them. work them as you have never before worked a market,—and in all your work and in all your calculations don't forget that the most powerful weapon you have to fight your battle with is newspaper advertising.

Never Before has a chain of circumstances combined in such Startling Fashion to hammer home the truth that Newspaper Advertising is most efficient and economical.

Your jobbers and your retailers in your market know its power to produce sales for them. Your consuming public are responding to its appeal every day. You can buy it where you want it, when you want it and only as much as you need. No waste circulation in the markets you cannot now reach.

We, the Newspaper Representatives' Association of Chicago, are ready to help you find your market. We are ready to put all the resources of the newspapers we represent at your disposal. We are equipped to help you solve your sales problem. A letter will bring a man to your office ready to help you.
